These boots were made for stomping

Originally favoured by infantrymen and fictional monsters, it's all about big black boots for AW19. And the clomplier they are, the better

There are certain items of which no self-respecting man's wardrobe should be bereft: a navy blue suit being one, a perfectly cut taupe trench coat being another. One more item that every man should own is a pair of heavy-duty black boots - and it's a point that the world's menswear designers agree on for AW19. From the commando boots with built-in spats shown at Dior to the hardcore paratrooper styles at British label Church's, this season it's all about getting your feet ready for the trenches (even if you only plan on jumping in puddles).

La fórmula de la zapatilla de tenis está clara: color blanco, piel de calidad y volumen medurado. Este modelo Church's le añade sofisticación con juegos de costuras y suela futurista. En la página anterior, el logo no engaña: las 'sneakers' son New Balance.
